What you should know

We start all year round under good weather conditions. A balloon flight takes about 1 – 1.5 hours and in total approx. 4 hours including preparing and inflating, the flight, the traditional (certificate presentation ceremony)(baptism) and the return to the point of origin.

From Spring to Summer starting times are either right after sunrise or shortly before sunset. In Winter, we can start during the day. Everybody with normal physical conditions may join and with normal, appropriate clothing and good shoes, you are well prepared.

Alpine Balloon Crossing

This is the most impressive and challenging experience for each balloon pilot and his crew.

Certain – very rare – weather conditions enable balloon flights from the Valley of Tegernsee over the Dolomites to the Po Valley of Northern Italy.

After landing, we celebrate a successful crossing with a wine and pasta party and stay overnight at our destination before returning 24 hours later.
